WashingtonFBabymineDumboSoundtrack. How Professors Think Michele Lamont. The result is the first comprehensive effort to study and understand the day-to-day activities involved in the creation of social-scientific and related forms of knowledge about the social world. A stellar cast of multidisciplinary scholars addresses topics such as the changing practices of historical research, anthropological data collection, library usage, peer review, and institutional review boards.

Makercultureemphasizescollectiveproduction,learningthroughdoing,a a customer review. Libraries, archives, conferences, peer reviews, the annoying institutional review board--all these along with the intimate realities of surveys, regulatory agencies, and financial analysts are brought to the fore as they determine what gets produced or not produced as certified knowledge.
